

CROSSING A CENTURY

THE ANGLICAN CHURCH
OF SINGAPORE

A CENTENARY TRIBUTE

IN the grace of God, the Diocese of Singapore has grown from a chaplaincy to British personnel on this small island into a maturing family of parishes and institutions with ministry extending deep into our society as well as far beyond our shores. As part of our Centenary remembrance and celebration, we are launching a book, Crossing a Century, to pay tribute to the God who has faithfully led us over the last 100 years. This pocket-sized book traces the hand of God in shaping our parish life; education, medical and community services; missions; and our role in the Anglican Communion. Read this book to find out:

- What is “the common life” shared by the family of Anglican parishes?
- How did the Anglican Community Services grow from a modest beginning with a children’s orthopaedic clinic during the War years?
- What is the ethos of our Anglican schools?
- How does the Anglican Church participate in the public square of the nation?
- What challenges does the Diocese of Singapore face in the light of a changing world and a changing Communion?
